

lauradewilde

Laura De Wilde is a Dutch visual artist, based in Amsterdam. After a long career as visual editor and producer at various English magazine publishers, Laura decided to work fulltime as a visual artist. She finds herself in a quote of Agnes Martin: "The moments of perfection... Paintings are a map of your inner being". Her work is based on intuition and coincidence. The ideas and their effects arise organically until Laura creates the right mix of color, structure, space, balance and tension. It is always a surprise how and when she gets to the end. Different techniques and materials are an important part of the search. Coincidence plays a major role in the use of materials as well: acrylic paint, ink, metal sheet, powders, pencil, paper, tape, embroidery silk, resin... Most of her work is on linen, stretched or not, or on paper.